Trivia Whiz

In Praise of Penguins

They've been featured in movies and are a main attraction at many zoos and aquariums. Here's a peek into the world of the penguin.

There are at least 17 species of penguins, and they all live in the Southern Hemisphere.

The smallest species is the little blue penguin, which is about 16 inches tall. The largest, the emperor penguin, stands 4 feet tall.

They are flightless birds, but penguins are great swimmers and spend much of their lives in water.

Penguins hunt for fish during underwater dives that can last up to 20 minutes. Insulating feathers help penguins stay warm in the water.

Penguin nesting areas are called rookeries and may contain thousands of pairs of birds.
